HIGH LEVEL SIGNAGE

High Level Signage

High-level signage, or sky signs, are generally located on top of a building or high-rise.

Sky signage is a highly effective way to kick your signage and branding up a notch. It represents one of the best forms of cost effective long term advertising.

High-level signage projects demand expertise and experience from design, structural engineering, project management, and logistics, as well as all aspects of safety management and public protection during installation and ongoing maintenance.

High-level signs ensure your brand stands out from the competition, and Albert Smith Signs are the experts in this field. We are proud to have undertaken many landmark high-level signage projects throughout Australia.

Sky signage can be particularly effective in a variety of situations and locations, including:

- Hotel signage
- Office building signage
- Shopping centre signage
- Retail signage and identification
- Stadium and sports facility signage
- Event and exhibition signage
- Construction signage
- Building naming rights

Such sky signs are highly visible from a considerable distance, providing excellent signage and branding exposure for your business or event.

High-level signage allows your organisation or event to:

- Make a highly visible statement in a high-traffic area
- Provide wide-ranging exposure
- Be noticed day and night

Albert Smith Signs have the expertise in all the areas concerning sky signage, from planning and design stages, through to engineering, Council approval, installation and maintenance.

We guarantee adherence to the highest safety standards in all stages.

At Albert Smith Signs, we provide all our signage services to the highest standards to meet and exceed customer expectations.
